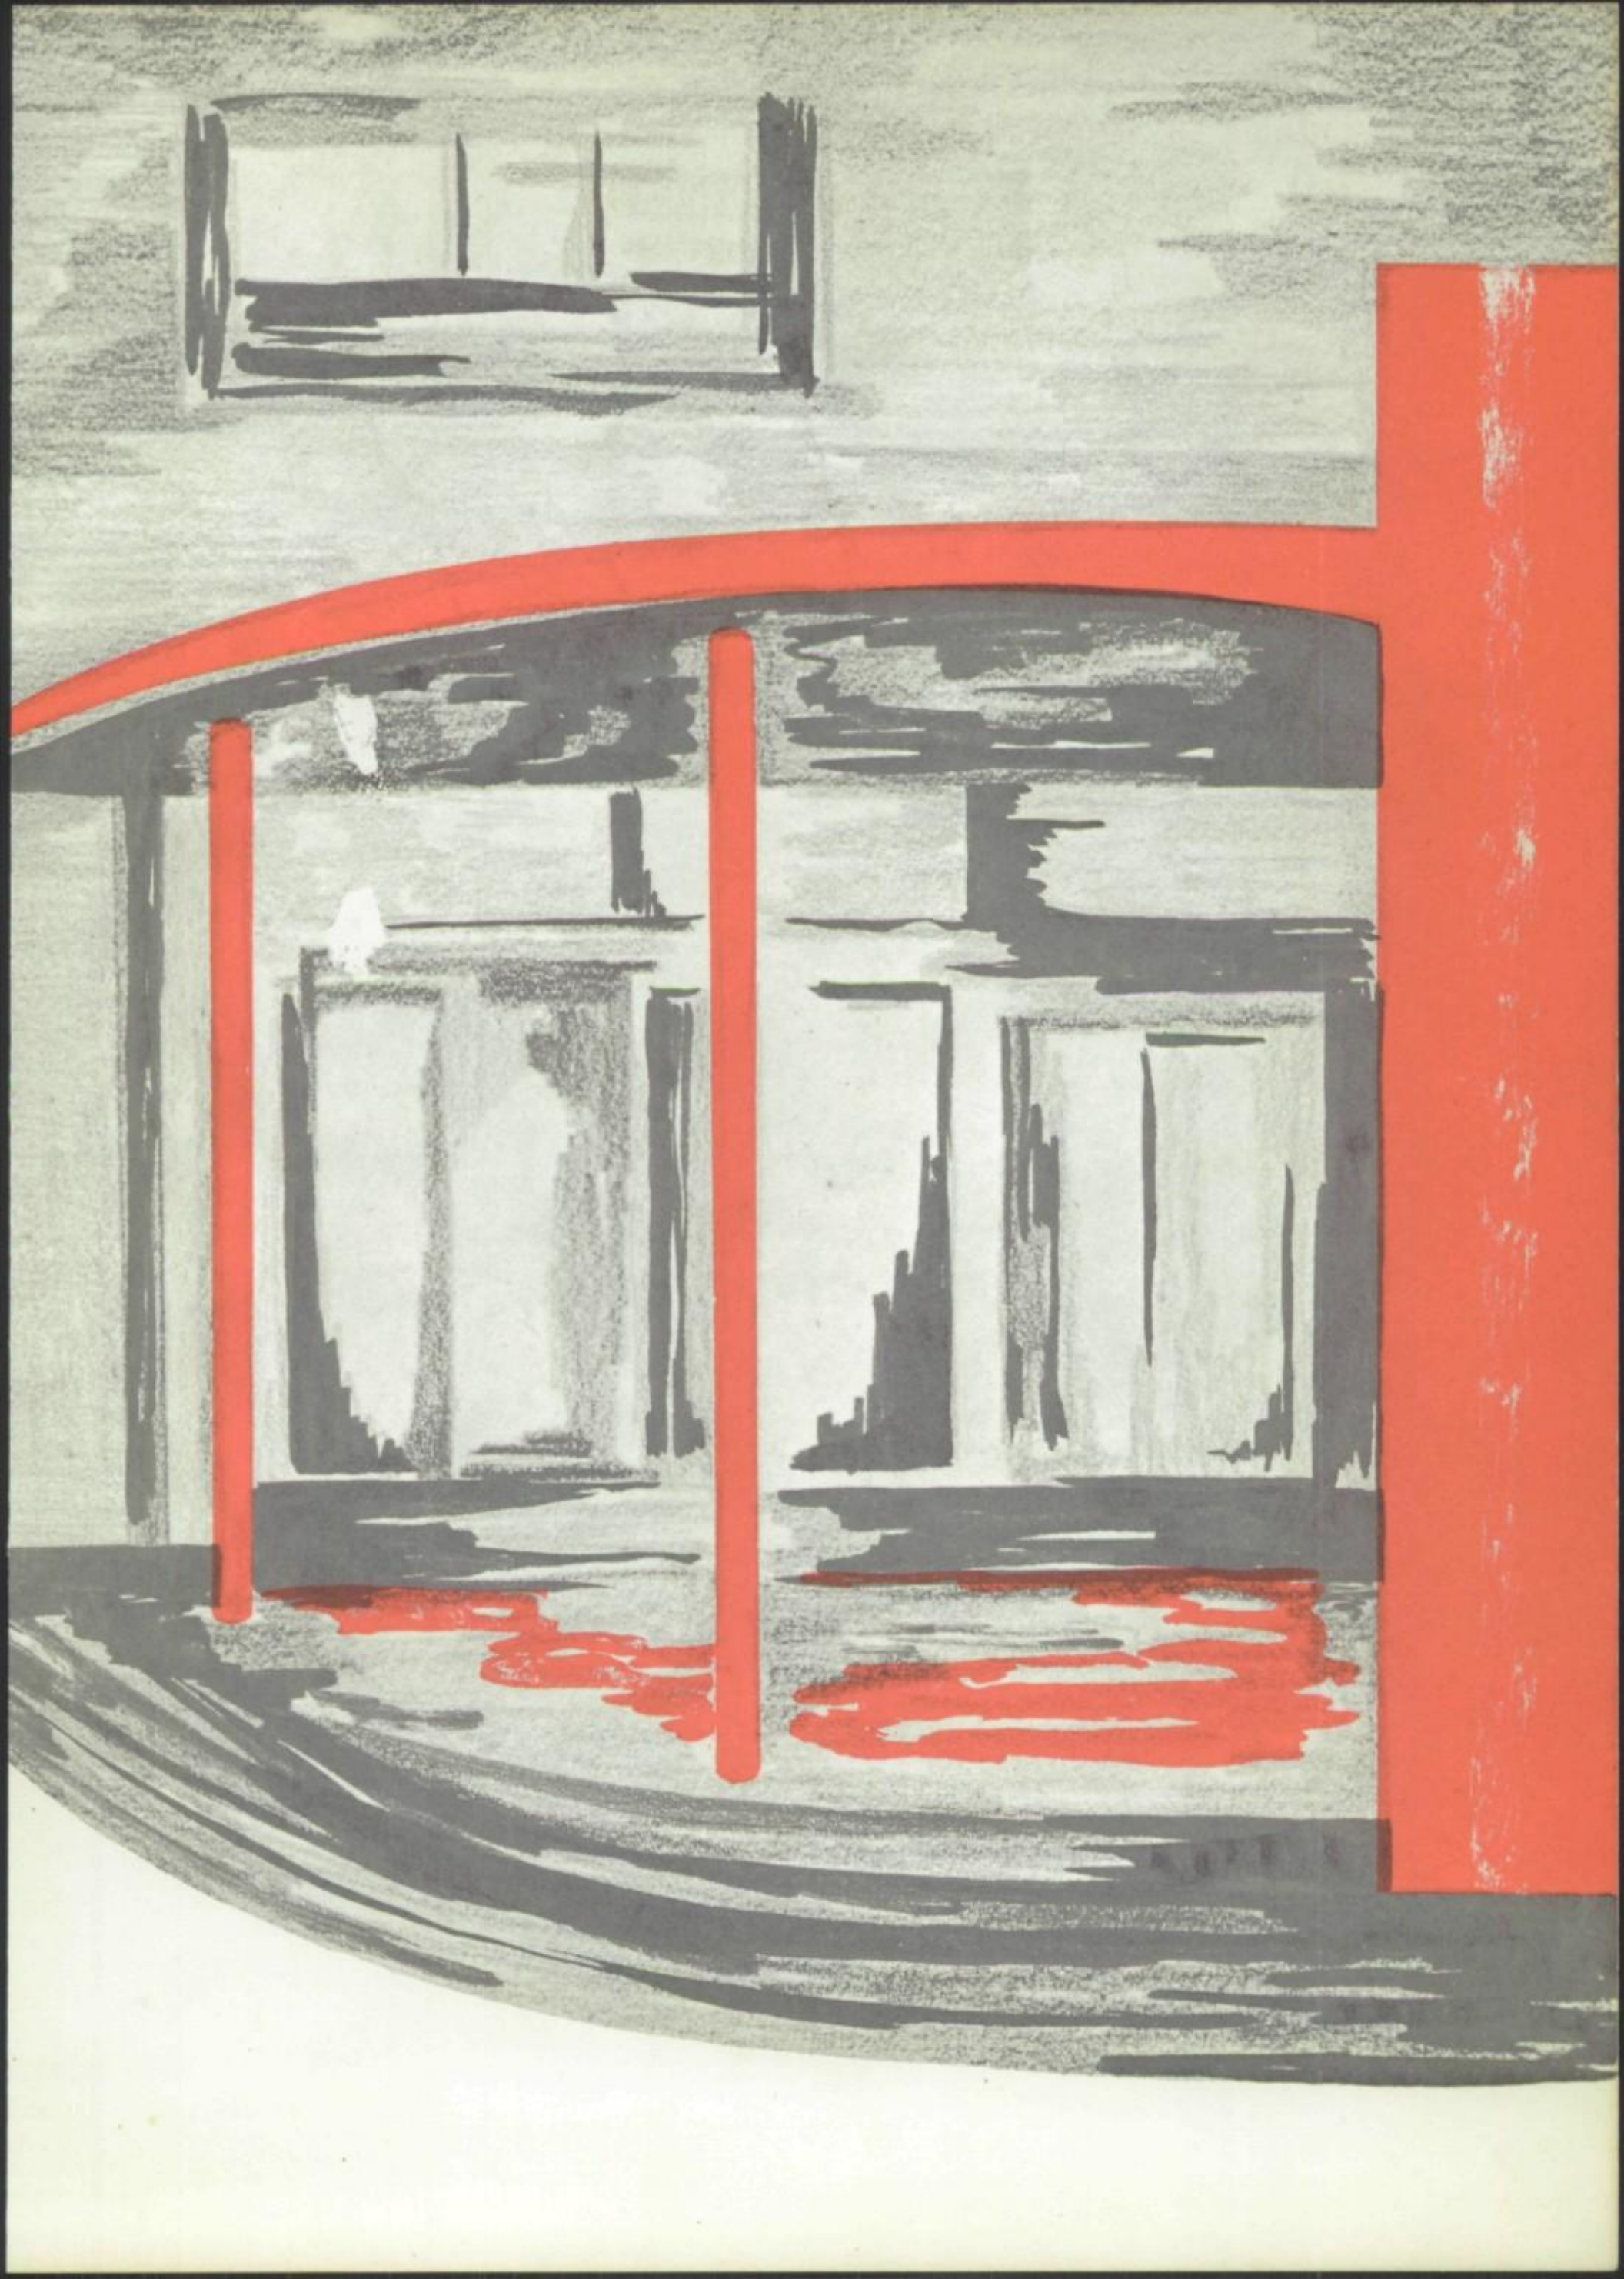
foreword

As graduation draws near, we have visions of marching in ceremonial cap and gown, with the mark of achievement in hand -- our diploma. This will signify the end of our carefree years and the beginning of a new and more adult life.
How short a walk on the bridge of time our high school career has been! Soon, we must face our responsibility to society and meet the challenges that lie before us. Some graduates will go on to college, others will join the service, or enter business and industry. Whatever may be the paths we will travel in our future lives, we will always be bound in the memory and practice of our motto: "No one knows what he can do until he tries."



appreciation

Mr. Milton Brown

As we embark upon the road that lies ahead, we pause for a moment, to express deep appreciation to our superintendent-Mr. Milton Brown, and our principal-Mr. Herman Kling.

As a result of their foresight and diligence, a dream has become a reality: the erection of our ultra-modern high school.

Mr. Herman Kling

It is through the efforts of these men that we are now better equipped to face the challenges that life may bring.
For their steadfast devotion and earnest contributions, we humbly give our thanks.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

Seated: Edward Anstett, Walter Winter, Wilson Grau, Cedric Smallidge.
Standing: Edward Fellinger, Milton Brown, Gertrude Hummel, Kenneth Swanson, John Greenwood.

Lobby on Dedication Day

Since the formation of the Lancaster Central School District in 1954, the Board of Education has been faced with many problems, which have required hours of thought and consideration in their solution. These problems include the expansion of the educational offerings for over 3400 pupils, the staffing of the schools (165 teachers and 9 administrators), the planning for future housing (4400 pupils are expected by 1960-61), the establishing of policies for the administration of the school system, and the operation of a bus fleet (34 units).
These men have given freely of their time and are to be commended on their self-sacrifice to the youth of this school district.

The P.T.A. serves in the role of guardian of our school "family." Because of their willing help, many school events were that much more successful. Each year, their group sponsors a Scholarship Dance and donates two scholarships to deserving students. Other activities included: serving refreshments at the School Dedication Ceremony and helping to make a success of our first Football Banquet.

health staff

The Health Department is supervised by Dr. Addesa and Mrs. Harriet Vasbinder, R. N. Audio and visual tests are given to all students annually and complete physicals given to seniors. Checking absences, caring for those who may become ill and treating injuries suffered during a school day are other necessary jobs in the operation of this department.

dedication

In appreciation of her unfailing patience, wise leadership, and full support of our class endeavors, we, the Senior Class of 1958, sincerely dedicate this yearbook to our class advisor, Miss Barbara Ordway. We will always remember her as an efficient and unselfish advisor and an understanding friend.

CLASS HISTORY

In 1955, with the help of our able advisor, Miss Barbara Ordway, our class sponsored its first function, the Sophomore Swirl, followed by socials and a splash party. Championship selling during the annual magazine sale brought a substantial increase to our treasury. We climaxed a successful year under the direction of our first class officers: president - "Ed" Carlsen, vice president - "Bob" North, secretary - Phyllis Greenwood, treasurer - Judy Stuart, and social chairman - "Toni" Davidson.

As Juniors, we installed these new officers: president - "Bob" North, vice president - "Louie" Patrignani, secretary - Frieda Aicher, treasurer - "Ed" Carlsen, social chairman - Janet Nicholson. Paving the way for the enterprises of our senior year, we chose powder blue and white as our class colors and a pink rose as our class flower. Our motto, "No one knows what he can do until he tries," gave us an added incentive. Following the tradition set by the Class of 1956, the Junior Prom and Senior Ball were again combined. Its theme, Mystic Midnight, was a perfect setting for the coronation of our King - "Kenny" May and our Queen - Phyllis Greenwood.

Beginning our senior year in a spacious new high school, we are awed at how quickly the years have passed. Now, as Seniors, we must assume the responsibility of setting the pace for traditions in our new school. The leaders for this last, most precious year are: president - "Tom" Ippolito, vice president - "Bob" North, secretary - Judy Stuart, treasurer - "Louie" Patrignani, and social chairman - Sharon McIntyre. Under their direction, the Sadie Hawkins Dance was a tremendous success. We are now anticipating the production of our Senior Play and our Senior Ball.

The completion of our senior year is drawing near. We, the Class of 1958, will have the honor of being the first graduating class to go forth from the halls of this new Alma Mater. However, we will always remember our years at L. H. S.

sophomores . . . 1960

This was the first and largest class to be organized in the new senior high school. Under the direction of Mr. Symington, they were the champions of this year's magazine sale. The "Sophs" have had a very successful "splash" party and are now planning a dance to be held in the spring.
To this class and the future classes rests the responsibility of upholding the high standards of L. C. H. S.

The responsibility of conducting the ten Sophomore homerooms rested with these members of the faculty:

Miss RM. Azzarelli
Miss M. Bates
Mr. M. Jamieson
Mr. C. Kemp
Mr. O. Roaldi
Miss T. Ryba
Mrs. H. Seaward
Mr. N. Symington
Miss H. Van Natter
Miss M. Warner

P. Stoldt, R. Ackman, R. Simboli, Coach Simon

T. Ippolito leads R. Simboli to score the first touchdown in the game against E. Aurora, won by us 45-6.

The first football banquet held in our new high school was promoted by the Lancaster Parent-Teachers' Association to honor Coach Simon, Coach Foyle, and our champion football team. Mr. Simon has been chosen as "Coach of the Year in Erie County." He will train the All-Star Erie County team in August at Saint Bonaventure's University, Allegany, N.Y. Mr. Foyle, J.V. Coach, who also completed an undefeated season, will act as his assistant. During the evening "Dick" Ackman, "Russ" Simboli and Paul Stoldt, who had been named on the Buffalo Courier-Express All Division Team, were awarded 1957 certificates in honor of their selection. A crowd of 400 sports fans heard "Terry" Brennan, Notre Dame's outstanding coach, stress the fact that success comes easier to the best prepared man.

The banquet

Terry Brennan, Notre Dame coach.

The Old English "L" is the girls' organization for sports. Through intramural sports and other activities, the girls aspire to accumulate 150 points for their letter. Girls do not become active members until their Junior year. It is then that they are allowed to attend the meetings and take an active part in the club's proceedings. All officers of the club must be seniors of good standing.

The Block "L" is a club representative of the boys who have earned their Varsity letters in sports sponsored by the Athletic Department. In this organization also, active membership begins in the Junior year.

Football heroes are admired in any school, but especially here at L.C.H.S. . The training they receive from our coaching staff builds character as well as develops proficiency in the game.

Our boys will tell you that these men insist upon teamwork and good sportsmanship. This is what made the teams the champions that they are.

boys' bowling

A look at the mid-season bowling standings finds L.C.S.H.S. leading the league by one point. The team began the season with a 3-0 win, and have consistently kept up the good record. We hope the boys will end the season still at the head of the pack, and bring due credit to their coach--Mr. Karl.

Wrestling is a comparatively new sport offered at L.C.H.S., which the students have accepted enthusiastically. The team was victorious over Clarence and Alden, but lost to Lake Shore.
Ken May, Ken Burg, and Bill Miner, are classified as outstanding "matmen." With only a third of the schedule behind us, Coach Boffa hopes, as we all do, that the best is yet to come.

acrobats

In November of this year, this new gymnastics squad was formed under the direction of Coach Hinckley. Practice sessions were held regularly twice a week, at which the boys were taught basic acrobatics. As time went on, they progressed to more difficult stunts. The growth of this club in the coming year and the perfection of techniques might bring an acrobatic exhibition to L.C.H.S. in the near future.

track

The turn of the season brings spring sport's participation and events to the foreground. Tennis rackets and golf clubs are brought out again, and practice for volleyball and track begins. Though the training schedule is rugged at first, hard work and patience win out, as seen when awards are presented at the season's end. Competitive standings for the teams were as follows:
Volleyball won 3 lost 3
Golf Team won 3 lost 7
Tennis Team won 6 lost 6
The Track Team won 8 and lost 1. At the Alden Invitational, we took first place trophy; came in second in the sectionals, and third in E.C.I.C. competition. Star runner Russ Simboli took first place in the 100 and 220 yard contests.

Learning a formation for water ballet

Miss Parkman

water ballet

This modern swimming pool is an outstanding feature of our new school. L.C.S. students are now able to actively participate in water athletics. This year, we are going to present our first annual water ballet, under the direction of Miss Caroline Parkman. Since November, the girls have steadily practiced fundamental swimming strokes and formations. Using our imagination, we formed our theme. Then the real work began: arranging music, organizing routines, planning novelty and specialty numbers, and, of course, long hours of practice.
The addition of this facility not only enables senior high school students to have swimming instructions, but the junior high school, the elementary schools and the adult education classes as well. As a result the entire community benefits from this pool.

This year at the new Lancaster Senior High School a swimming team developed out of the eagerness of some twenty-eight boys who call themselves THE REDSKIN MERMEN. The team is led by the co-captains Charles Nelson and Kirkland Beck.

In this preparatory year, we hope to gain a great deal of experience through our nine practice meets so that next year, upon entering league competition, we will not be completely devoured by "the sharks."

In our first competitive meet, we downed the Maryvale Mermen by a score of 49 to 37. The pace setters in this particular meet were: Roger Seibel, Charles Nelson, James Bradley, and Kirkland Beck.

In our second and third attempts for victory, the team went down before the two strongest teams in the division--East Aurora and Clarence. With the remainder of the season ahead, the Redskin Mermen are looking forward with great anticipation to finishing the season with at least four victories out of nine starts. Whatever the number of victories achieved, it will be a great accomplishment for the team in its beginning year.

Although cheerleaders cannot give their skill to win the game in the sense that they cannot control the score on the scoreboard, it is their job to bring to their fullest height, the feelings of enthusiasm in the crowd for the contest itself.

Qualities to be found in a good cheerleader includes:

Enthusiasm
Magnetic Personality
Leadership Ability
Showmanship
Good Physical Health

A billowy blue sky...white stars...the sparkling fountain...a winsome queen...a handsome king ...our classmates in elegant evening dress...all these made the Junior-Senior Ball the social event of our school years. No other time in these years have we realized how soon we must become adults! The joy of the occasion was poignant with the true meaning of "the end is truly the beginning." The crowning of the King and Queen took place at eleven o'clock, when Queen Marilyn Roll and King James Kegler of 1956 conducted the ceremony. Immediately afterwards, the Grand March was led by the new Queen Phyllis and King Kenneth.

national honor society

The National Honor Society members are chosen by their fellow students and teachers, because they are students with high standards of leadership, character, scholarship, and service. At the induction ceremony in the fall and spring of each year, members speak on these four qualities symbolic of superior citizenship.

CHARACTER by Frieda Aicher

Happiness and success are built on character. It gives you the strength to face life and its problems without faltering; the courage to win; the faith to believe, and the love to forgive.

Character is what you are; reputation is what people think you are. If you honestly strive to uphold high ideals and fairness in associating with friends and advisors, and create an atmosphere of good influence, you have the makings of a strong and worthy character. When others fully realize your ideals and your outlook toward life, they will award you with everlasting friendship, trust, and above all, a faultless reputation.

Each individual is solely responsible for choosing the road he will follow in building his character. We should all thank God that we have the privilege to choose that road. Make it the right one!

SCHOLARSHIP by Antoinette Davidson

Webster defines scholarship for us as learning, or the character and qualities of a scholar. But, what does it mean? Scholarship is much more than mere book-learning and high marks. It is, foremost, a love for learning and the sacrifice of time for reading and studying.

You must not only be willing to learn, but you must fully realize that the road to knowledge is not an easy one. Every effort reaps its own rewards and propels you along toward your goal.

Scholarship is the quality of a person, an intangibility which compels him to learn. Scholarship is evident in a student's marks, and more so in his actions. Class interest, attitude, participation are evidences of a student's scholarship. Scholarship is one of many qualities we search for in our leaders and outstanding students. It is a quality demanding the respect of others. It should neither be frowned on as old fashioned nor scorned as sissified and stupid.

Education is the true goal of scholarship. Education itself, is not acquired merely in high school or college but through life. By means of literature, observation, experience and contact with others, we continually add to our education. Never consider your education complete, for--"one learns something new every day."

With the key of knowledge, we can unlock the door to a successful future.

SERVICE by Charles Teague

A choice that confronts great artists is this: "Shall I separate myself from the world of men and capitalize on my own genius, or shall I go down to the world of men and show them what I have learned about beauty?" The eminent musician, Sir Walford Davies of England was confronted with this choice. He turned his back on a career of self-glory, lived a life of service, and raised a whole nation's love and appreciation of good music.

Service is the creative use of the knowledge, skills, and resources we possess. It may be rendered in many ways. At all times and in all places there is opportunity to do good at home, school, church and in the community and world. Doing for others gives one the highest form of satisfaction. One must give not only of his time, but in a very personal sense, himself.

In our complex world of today, we need individuals who can elevate themselves above the tides of the times to serve their fellow men. To live for the benefit of others is one of man's most noble attributes. Thus when a person overcomes his own selfish desires, he conquers greed and achieves purpose in life.

Pierre Van Passen once said: "Great men live for great causes." Mankind may be divided into two classes--those who serve and those who are served. By a strange paradox, the servant becomes the master; the served--the slave. May we, one and all, adopt the axiom of the greatest master of all time who said, "He who would be greatest among you must be the servant of all."

LEADERSHIP by Phyllis Greenwood

Leadership is the art of directing others in conduct and achievement through one's initiative and resourcefulness. A true leader is unselfish because he desires to serve others. A leader is one who sees and does what is best for the group, community, or state with no thought of selfish gain. Leadership is not merely popularity, nor magnetic personality, but the inspirational influence that comes to him who has in daily efforts tried to do the very best he could in small things and constantly has high ideals.

Each individual possesses influence either good or bad upon some group of his associates. Each person may choose the type of leadership he will exert. Leadership will show a person's goodness, mercy, selfishness, and iniquity.

Throughout history there has been leaders and followers, but today the world demands leaders--good, strong leaders. The National Honor Society represents leadership. Will you, the leaders and citizens of tomorrow, take up the torch of leadership, and follow examples of great men like Eisenhower, Churchill, and Chiang Kai-Shek, who have become the leaders of our time?

Leadership demands courage, self-respect, clear thinking, and humbleness; but good leadership is a true display of high character and service to others.

The responsibility of publishing a successful 1958 Cayugan rested on the shoulders of this staff. Towards the end of their junior year, they worked hard, forming a yearbook "dummy." In the beginning of our senior year, write-ups were discussed, checked and typed; pictures were taken; patrons were signed and finally, the "paste-up" job completed to send the book to press. Giving freely of their talents and time, while exerting much effort in planning and hard work, the advisors and staff have produced this yearbook. Special commendation goes to A. Davidson, C. Estes, P. Greenwood, J. Harper, S. Lahnen, S. McIntyre, R. Novelli, T. Opela, G. Seaward, and C. Colliflower, for their constant dependability and generous offering of time. Sole concentration as photography staff for the yearbook has kept members of the Photography Club busy. After taking group pictures and scenes of school events, they developed and printed the pictures themselves.

of the swell guys Lancaster gained from H.
Marp. Be good + always stay the way you are.
Carolyn
Conrad

Pete,
To one of the nicest guys around.
Be good - this summer.
Let me know how married life is.
as always,
Dolores N.

Pete,
To a dear
who's engaged (to be)
Hope a blast
This summer
+ send me an invitation to the wedding ok?
Always
Mary Ann

Pete,
Loads of luck
to a swell person.
Hope your success
fills your dreams and ambitions
Janet

Joe Producer.
I hope I can go on working with you as long as possible: Even if you are over me!
I still enjoy working with you. The best to you and your wife-to-be.
Bob Sada

Pete,
Good luck
+ best wishes to you always
Mary Ann
